

DON'T USE THIS PLASTIC BAG

Americans use 100 billion plastic bags every year, and 97 billion of those bags are thrown away, and will take 1,000 years to degrade. Because of the world's 1,000,000-bags-per-minute use and disposal of plastic bags, every square mile of ocean on Earth has about 46,000 pieces of plastic floating in it.

Think you can remember your reusable shopping bags next time you're at the grocery store? If not, your family accumulates an average of 15 plastic bags every single trip you take to the grocery store, leaving a legacy of trash. When you throw it "away," it doesn't actually go away.
